

18.384

To whom it concerns,

I would ask that smaller parties and independents not be disenfranchised by any revision of electoral districts. Large geographic areas and economically diverse wards will give an unfair advantage to the larger parties with larger budgets and with an ongoing presence in the more rural areas to be subsumed into the City.

Also from a development point of view, it would be more prudent for less developed areas to be aligned if the role of Municipal Districts are enshrined in the Council structure of the City as opposed to areas with diverging needs.

regards,

Adam McCarthy